Visit to COIMBRA

Coimbra is a charming City, not only because it is one of the oldest university cities in the world, but also because it has one of the most harmonious sets of buildings in Portugal.

Coimbra is crossed by Mondego River, which rises in Serra da Estrela and its banks allow great contact with nature and the practice of outdoor activities.

Coimbra is also a very wooded city. It has two forest reserves, Mata do Choupal and the Botanical Garden, and many parks and gardens throughout the city.

It is considered to be one of Portugal's most important cities, due to the infrastructures, organizations and companies located there, in addition to its historical importance and privileged geographical position in the center of mainland Portugal, between the cities of Lisbon and Porto.
